And remember that for five years, including last year, when it sold at $2600. the Hudson Super-Six was the largest selling fine car in the world.

At its new price of $1895 doesn't it represent incomparably the greatest value in the fine car market?

No judicious buyer today makes his choice without comparing not only the present price of cars, but also their relative values as indicated by the position and reputation they have held for years.

Such comparison today directs intensified interest upon Hudson.

It Redoubles Hudson's Value Advantage

There is no need to call attention to the quality, ability and distinction of Hudson. Its leadership in these is a long acknowledged position. It is now in its sixth year as the largest selling fine car. In every way that proof can be offered it has established its right to that eminence.

Many of its official records are of five years' standing. They have been challenged incessantly. Isn't it significant that five years of intensive competition has produced no rival to out-

And consider that many Super-Sixes are today rendering smooth, dependable duty after more than 100,000 miles of service.

Does any car within its new price range deserve consideration upon the basis of comparative proofs?

And among higher priced cars where will you find any desirable quality that Hudson at $1895 does not give in equal measure?
